

PLUMBOSOLVENCY

The Christchurch City Council is recommending residents flush a cup of water from their drinking water taps each morning, in line with Ministry of Health recommendations.

The Ministry of Health advises some plumbing fittings potentially allow minute traces of metals to accumulate in water left in the fittings for several hours.

Christchurch Medical Officer of Health Dr Alistair Humphrey has said the health risk is low. However, flushing a small amount of water from your drinking tap each morning, or after you've been away from your property, is recommended to remove any metals that may have dissolved from the plumbing fittings.

The Ministry of Health is recommending this simple precaution for all households in New Zealand, including those on public and private water supplies in the Christchurch and Banks Peninsula areas.

For the purpose of water conservation, the Council suggests using this water for watering plants or dishwashing.
